Slavante is an area and street on the eastern slope of Sint-Pietersberg hill. The area is best known for Buitengoed Slavante, formerly Casino Slavante, a former outdoor club dating back to 1846. The tavern also includes remnants of a 17th-century monastery, the baroque Saint Anthony's chapel, a vineyard, and the entrance to the subterranean limestone quarries Zonneberg and Slavante. The elevated area offers a view over the river Meuse and part of the Meuse valley. There is a jetty for tour boats on the Meuse.

The ENCI was an industrial site for cement preparation. It is being transformed into a wonderful place full of nature. In the Info Center Châlet D'n Observant, you can obtain extensive information about the transformation of the ENCI area. For example, you can listen to the story of a former ENCI employee who reflects on how it used to be at ENCI. At the Info Center, you can also get info on where and how you can hike, fish, run, and cycle in the area or simply enjoy the beautiful nature or a delicious beverage or snack.

Liège-Guillemins Station is the main railway station of the city of Liège. The station is at the end of several railway lines and one of the stops of the high-speed line between Brussels and Cologne. The station had to be upgraded to accommodate the requirements of the high-speed line. Following an international competition, the project of the well-known architect Santiago Calatrava was chosen as the final design. The station is made of steel, glass, white concrete, and Belgian blue stone, and has a monumental roof measuring 160 m in length and 35 m in height. The grand opening of the station took place in 2009.
